

DR. ANDREAS MUEHLER

Chief Medical Officer

Andreas Muehler, M.D., M.B.A., joined Immunic in August 2016. He has more than 25 years of leadership experience in the U.S. and European pharmaceutical industry, with an emphasis on preclinical and clinical development, business development and licensing, private equity, as well as marketing.

From 2009 until joining Immunic, Dr. Muehler was an independent medical consultant, working on assignments in the U.S. and in Germany. During this time, he served in key interim leadership roles at a number of pharmaceutical and medical device companies. As such, Dr. Muehler was responsible for overseeing large clinical oncology trials, including the pivotal trials leading up to the launch of newly approved pharmaceuticals for inflammatory bowel disease, Vedolizumab and Budesonide MMX.

In 2009, Dr. Muehler also was a Managing Director of Palladius Healthcare GmbH, a Munich-based healthcare private equity fund. Prior to this, he served at the helm of several U.S. based companies. Specifically, Dr. Muehler was President and Chief Executive Officer of medical device start-up, MicroMRI, Inc. and President of medical device company, 3TP LLC (d/b/a CAD Sciences), which he subsequently sold to iCAD Medical in 2006. Dr. Muehler also served as Chief Executive Officer and Vice President, Corporate Development at Cellerar Inc., a developer of cancer therapeutics and imaging agents. Earlier in his career, Dr. Muehler served in a number of key positions at the mid-sized, U.S.-based pharmaceutical company Berlex Laboratories, where his roles spanned preclinical and clinical development, business development, as well as licensing and marketing.

Dr. Muehler received an M.D. from Humboldt-University in Berlin, Germany, and an M.B.A. from Duke University in Durham, North Carolina. Dr. Muehler has served on the Board of Directors of multiple emerging medical technology companies, is the co-inventor of more than 20 patents and is the author or co-author of more than 70 publications in peer-reviewed journals.
